XS Brokers Commits $100,000 to Troy University's Risk Management & Insurance Program

Quincy, MA – June 03, 2022 – XS Brokers (XSB), a national wholesale and binding intermediary specializing in property and casualty personal and commercial lines products, recently made a $100,000 commitment to Troy University's Sorrell College of Business' Risk Management and Insurance (RMI) program. Adam Devine, XS Broker's CEO who serves on the RMI Advisory Board is excited to make the contribution to support the students and the program.

"Several graduates of Troy's RMI program have joined our organization in the past year. We are very impressed not only by the quality of their education but also their strong work ethic and strong values," said Adam Devine. "My organization thought it appropriate to make a financial commitment to the RMI program for both existing and future students."

"I was asked to join the RMI Advisory Board a year ago and in a very short time, I have seen the fantastic commitment made to the field from the faculty led by Dr. Baggett."

The RMI program highlights the importance of risk management within the context of a global business framework. The program offers students the opportunities to become proficient in risk management and insurance concepts as they apply them to servicing both commercial and personal insurance needs.

Dr. Courtney Baggett, an associate professor and Department Chair of Economics, Finance and RMI said the funds will provide assistance to the students through individual scholarships, financial assistance for state licensing exams, student travel and other needs.

This gift will make a tremendous impact on our students, and I can't express how grateful I am to Adam and the XS Brokers organization for their benevolence," she said. "Adam has played an important role on our RMI Advisory Board, and we are humbled to receive such a substantial gift from XS Brokers."
